FATALITIES AT JEFFERSONVILLE.-It WA announced in the Journal this morning that a well known character from this city, name Michael Allen, had been shot and killed at the Barnaby Saloon, in Jeffersonville, on Friday evening, by a man named Jenkins. We have additional particulars of the affray, from which it appears that three persons who were impli cated in the affair at the drinking saloon have lost their lives. Allen had been engaged in a quarrel with a man named Bloom, when a fight at once ensued, in which Allen cut Bloom with a knife, wounding him, it is thought, mortally, although Bloom was yet alive this morning. Soon af ter this affray the man Jenkins approached Allen, and, without other ceremony, shot and killed him. Jenkins immediately ran up in the direction of the ship-yards, procurde a skiff and pulled for the tow-head, deserting the skiff on the Indiana side of the towhead, and making his way to the Kentucky side of the island. The ferryboat was brought into requisition, and, with an officer on board, started in pursuit. Hoping to elude his pursuers, Jenkins threw himsel into the water, keeping his head above the surface by holding on to the willows. He found his position untenable, however, and cried lustily for assistance, but before that assistance could be rendered he disappeared in the water and was drowned. The body was

THE LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD. The troubles on the line of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad have no doubt been exaggerated. It has been ascertained that a num ber of sick and wounded rebel soldiers who had been permitted by the Federal authorities to return to their homes near Mitchellsville, Tenn., and recruit their health, tore up a few rails, cut the telegraph wires, and then proceeded south to rejoin their regiments. The damage has been repaired, and the train which left Nashville this morning had arrived at Bowling Green a few minutes behind time, and will reach this city at seven o'clock this

THE CONDITION OF IBELAND. - The Cork Examiner of Jan. 17th contains the following remarks on the condition of Ireland: To disguise the fact that the condition of the farming classes, especially those of small holdings, is a very painful one at this moment would be idle. The soul of a man as well as his body is incomplete without his wife; he has strength, she has beauty; he combats the enemy and labors in the field, but he understands nothing of domestic life. His companion is waiting to prepare his repast and sweeten his existence. He has crosses, and the partner of his life is there to soften them. His days may be said and troubled, but in the chaste arms of his wife he finds comfort and repose. WHEAT'S PHILOSOPHY OF SLAVERY. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

Louisville, Feb. 6, 1863. DEAR SIRS: To regulate man's actions here DEAR SIRS: To regulate man's actions here on earth, we should keep uppermost in mind, during the acts of each day, the great manifest design of God in his order of creation. The interpretation of the great organize law governing organized matter, as we see each organized class in the mineral, vegetable, and animal kingdoms present itself to our undertanding is easy clear and intelligible where in the first chapter of Genesis, as to each or ganized particle of matter under the head class, producing its kind, species, or genus ay that lead emanated from zinc, quicksilver from antimony, gold from silver, &c.; or in the vegetable kingdom, we should say, that corn emanated from barley, rye, oats, or heat, or either one of these from the other a; or in the animal kingdom, we should y that the ant emanated from the commo lescending lower in the creation, the sensitive plant from the polypus, or, in ascending, the common ape from the gorilla, &c. In these cases there is no difference of opinion among physiologists and ethnologists of the present day, for we all, in these cases, exercise com-mon reason and common sense, and do not eschew the principle that two and two make four, nor that black is black, white is white,

These are the great organic principles to which we must adhere; and we err when we deviate from them, in any particular, in the exercise of our stewardship here below. We will now turn to the sacred page of Holy Writ to discover the great organic laws which govern organized matter. We cannot go receive it as it reads, and as it appeals to com-mon sense and understanding for reception. This Holy Book is right; but man, through This Holy Book is right; but man, through many ages, has been wont to read that black is white, red is green, &c., upon which he has formed his opinions, judgment, habits, and customs for action and government. In these particular cases we see the false philosophy into which man has run for the purpose of founding the rules for his government. In order to avert ultimate destruction, we must resort to the great organic law which governs the Universe, for our guidance and government. When we r our guidance and government. When we fer back to that Great Being before he beyan his heaven and earth, matter was in chaos; here was no distinction of colors, of forms, lesires, tastes, senses, habits, customs, nor of whatever else we now behold on the earth, in the earth, or in the heaven or in the waters. All matter then unorganized stood alike related to matter; there was no design; there was no purpose manifest. Who disputes this relation of matter before the creation? Common sense, and this age of reason and penetra God advances from the first verse of the first chapter of Genesis, in the order of his creachapter of Genesis, in the order of his creation, to the 11th verse, we see the design of God manifested in each of his acts, just in such a manner as a distinguished physiologist would begin the construction of his imaginary world. There was design in God's making the heaven and the earth, light, dry land, and seas, before he created the seeds which were to grow out of the earth. In the 11th verse we see a historic account on the creation of the seeds adapted to grow out of the earth; of the seeds adapted to grow out if the earth; in this verse God laid down : e great or-ganic law which was in all future time to govern the seeds thus mentioned, and which was that each seed was to produce its kind; this shows their classifications, and that each class was to have affinity for its own in contradistinction to any other. No one questions this; and hence the organic law of physiology and with the order of creation. There is no chance work about the sun, moon, nor stars which we see accounted for in the 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, and 18th verses of the first chapter of Genesis. In these verses we see the design that God had in view in their

In all of this we see the great and ters, with all their colors, forms, desires, habits, and customs, dividing them into classes, and making each class bring forth its kind, as distinct from other classes. In the waters can be class seek its general company

Consequently, each class, as in the classes

Pherefore, we see that male and female, in any class of the inanimate and animate creaion, are types of the same colors, desires, nabits, and customs, with opposite genital habits, and customs, with opposite genital and nutritive organs only, for the purpose of procreation and nourishment. In the inanimate creation these organs are located in juxtaposition with each other, for they have no powers of locomotion; in this God manifested his design at the period of his creation. Though loaded so her guards touch the water's euge, she has this evening given ample proof of her ability, with her present corps of offiers, to compete in speed with any steamers

We have had a most delightful passage down the river. Nothing has occurred to render our passage anything other than a pleasure trip, save one of the hands was drowned last night. The captain, clerk, and crew are truly gentlemen, and have tendered us every comfort we could ask. If Capt. Abe McDugal does not furnish a table loaded with the richest luxuries of prosperous and peacea-able times, we can attest that such as he had he set before us freely, and it was (in his own language) clean, and the bedding neat. language) ctean, and the bedding neat.

We are now, together with the whole down river fleet, anchored on the Louisiana shore, opposite the mouth of the Yazoo, better known as Young's Point. The St. Louis, of our fleet, was fired into yesterday, doing no serious damage, save the shots passing through the wheelhouse without affecting life or limb.

We learn that a small fleet of the iron-clad have group up the Yazoo today to see if there have gone up the Yazoo to-day to see if there are any of the same scaly tribe there, and we hope to save any "Arkansas" the trouble of passing this wooden fleet, lining the shore for

We are now within twelve miles by river and seven by land of the city. The troops as yet are all kept on board the boats. An expedition went down to-day to open the ditch

The Postal Currency.—There is a popular error in reference to the postal currency. Some of the notes have on the lower right hand corner of the back the letters "A. B. N. Co." and those not stamped are supposed to be spurious. The contract for printing these notes was originally given to the National Bank Note Company, whose signature is in small letters upon the face. When the demand for them became urgent the National Bank Note Company printed the face, and the American Bank Note Company the backs, hence those which were printed by the American Bank Note Company have their signature upon the back; but the absence of this signature is no evidence of spuriousness.—N. SHELL OVETHER PIRST OF THE SHAROW! At the St. Charles Restaurant,

GEO. D. PRENTICE, Beditors. PAUL R. SHIPMAN, Beditors. OLIVER LUCAS, Local Editor & Reporter

According to one of the despatches ere were, at the time of the occurrence of the late affair at Charleston, two circles of ockading ships, the outer one in deep water one on the bar, and nautical men in the Navy clade ventured out merely to attack the inner ircle, without daring to go so far as to risk an encounter with the outer one. This is very likely to be true, but, if it is, the country cannot but want an explanation of the seeming in front, whilst all our vessels capable of suc essful resistance to the rebel boats were be hind and out of supporting distance.

We presume that the suggestion made a the Navy Department is correct, and, if it is ertainly the blockade was not raised at all, ot even for an hour or a minute. The unannous opinion said to have been expressed by the foreign Consuls at Charleston in their eeting immediately after the sinking of the rcedita, that the blockade was raised, is or arse worth nothing. They are deeply-insted parties. Their profits, their means of lihood, depend upon the amount of busiss done in Charleston by the vessels of the duces it to a very low figure. Of cour ng of the blockade as any people in arleston, and, as was to be expected, they aped in hot haste at the very first pretext avowing their belief that the raising had

But, although the expressed opinion of the Consuls is in itself worth nothing, it may give as trouble by furnishing an excuse to their spective Governments to insist upon free amerce with the port of Charleston on the imption that the blockade was actually ised and cannot be renewed until after a certain period. The foreign Governments wan a pretext for insisting on free commerce just as much as the Charleston Consuls wanted one for inviting it, and the Governments may ump at the ghost of pretext's shadow as preitately as the Consuls did. It would not very surprising to us if England and France, upon the strength of the representations of their Consuls, should encourage their upon reflection, approve its own words. The wretched straits that the rebels are put to for fighting-men are evident from the fact that they have resorted to a third conscription to include all men between the ages of 45 and 55, Jeff Davis having proclaimed that the maintenance of the Confederacy de pends upon the raising of seventy-five or a hundred thousand fresh recruits within the next few weeks. The rebel President said "the next two months," and this was said some weeks ago.

Now no one, who understands the subject at all, can suppose it possible for the new conscription of old men to furnish seventy-five or a hundred thousand men or anything like that number. From 45 to 55 is old age in the South; indeed pretty old age anywhere. The two first Southern conscriptions having exhausted the class of young men and the class of middle-aged men, the rebels themselve cannot and do not expect much from their conscription of a class regarded in all countries as past military duty. Even among the rebel conscripts between the ages of 18 and 35 and those between the ages of 35 and 45. there were, as there must always be, an causes, the number having amounted in the South, according to our recollection, to mor than a third of the whole. Of course the pro portion of exempts among men between th ages of 45 and 55 must, tor obvious reason the old fellows composing the other fourth, com be twice as great, that is, more than two third It can scarcely fall short of three fourths. An pelled to all the hard endurances by which th younger and hardier classes have been carrie to the hospital and the grave in almost coun less numbers, will inevitably succumb the first month of service. The hardships of the troops on the Federal side are great, very great, but on the rebel side they are terrible The rebel conscription No. 3 will bring deatl to the old men gathered in by it as certainly as the order of King Herod caused the slaying of the babies "in Bethlehem and all the coast thereof." The old chaps will be sacrifice without the least benefit to the cause of the rebellion. But no doubt the rebel authorities think that such old codgers would soon die anyhow. "Do you want to live forever, you old fools?" exclaimed a celebrated military leader to a veteran regiment that hesitated to go to certain death.

The fact is, the rebels have no further available resources in either men or money. They must rely solely upon the men they have in the service, and rely upon their fighting without money. And those men are rapidly disappearing by battle, more rapidly by pestilence and destitution, and more rapidly stil by desertion. The rebel Government is con stantly losing its material strength with no means of replacing it. All that we have to do to destroy the rebellion within as second in command to John Morgan about a year ago united with John in a letter to us determined in heart, to keep our force in the loathing and detestation, and to regard with scorn loudly uttered or scorn unutterable all call upon us, and now we guess that Wood at suggestions of peace except upon the basis of a restored Union and all the authors and fa- come where we are, and we shouldn't like to

HUMPHREY MARSHALL'S DOINGS IN NORTH-

EASTERN KENTUCKY .- We have stated heretofore that several of the counties of Northeast ern Kentucky were overrun by rebel guerillas Mr. John Miller, the Jailer of Bath county, Ky., arrived in Lexington on Friday. He informs the Observer and Reporter that great trouble and suffering exists in Owingsville and vicinity, owing to the depredations which in the last week or so have been perpetrated by Humphrey Marshall's command. Their camp is but twenty-one miles from Owingsville, in the mountains, and whenever their necessities require it, they make a descent upon the town and vicinity-supply themselves with such articles as they want, so far as they can be found, and return. Mr. Miller states that about two hundred and fifty of these men entered Owingsville at a late hour on Sunday night, the 1st inst., stripped two boot and shoe stores completely-even taking baby shoes-then entered a dry goods house, from which they took all the cotton cloth, women's all the quilts in the neighborhood and all the sacks that could be found for the purpose of carrying off their plunder. They also took oout one hundred of the best horses in the vicinity. These bands are growing worse and is now almost impossible for a Union man to bank not in existence with intent to pass the live in Owingsville or vicinity. About the first of last week they murdered three men. two by the name of Jenkins-father and son -and a paroled soldier of the Second Ohio regiment by the name of Yarber. After shooting these men, to make sure of their death they stabbed them through the body with bowie knives. Nearly all the Union men of Owingsville have had to fly for safety. Mr. Miller left himself, barefooted, with others, on a cold night, in the same condition, and in consequence had his feet frosted. He left a number of the refugees at Mount Sterling The guerillas had a few days since a son of Colonel Sudduth who was recently brutally murdered, as a captive, but luckily he made have been confined to Union men. He thinks |; if a small force could be sent to Olympian Springs these marauders could be checked or kept back in their mountain passes. So many men have joined the army from that section of the country that there are not now enough left to form a Home Guard that would be of

FROM GEN. ROSECRANS' ARMY .- The Nashville Union of Saturday has the latest intelligence from the Army of the Cumberland. Nothing of startling interest is transpiring. Murfreesboro is being strongly fortified, and give but two concerts in this city. will in a short time be formidable enough to resist any attacking force that may be brought against it. Gen. Rosecrans is at Shelbyville, and Bragg's headquarters are at Tullahoma The pickets of both parties are in sight of one another daily. On Thursday morning some rebel cavalry attacked some of our foraging wagons while out getting supplies. The enemy were repulsed after a brisk little fight. Our loss was two wounded. The injury to the enemy is not known.

PAY FOR TROOPS .- Major Cumback, Chief Paymaster for the Department of the Ohio, has sent out ten paymasters with $1,000,000 to pay the troops in Kentucky. This will pay a portion of the soldiers to the 31st of October, and a portion to December 31st. Major Cumback expects a further remittance from Washington, which will enable him to square up with the army in his Department to January 1st. Six paymasters arrived in this city by the steamer Major Anderson on Saturday. Arrangements have been made to supply them with the necessary funds at once wherewith to pay all arrearages to the troops under Gen. Rosecrans' command.

THEATRE.-Mr. and Mrs. Waller, whose tracedy is the admiration of all admirers of the drama, will commence an engagement at the Theatre this evening in the great tragedy of Macbeth. The promise of an entertain ment in the legitimate way is quite a relief to many amusement-seekers, and, besides, our popular friend Macauley will find employment upon his hands quite worthy of his great abilities.

The Kentucky University at Harrodsburg is in the midst of a very prosperous session, with a fine class of young men, and with its full organization, will begin its next half term to-day, the 9th inst., under very favorable auspices. With its splendid endowment, and very able faculty, there is perhaps no institution in the Mississippi Valley, upon a more permanent basis and with so bright a

Mr. Charles Atmore is the agent in this city. Officers Maguire and Green arrested a soldier and a civilian, on Green street, near Fourth, about ten o'clock on Saturday night, with a bay mare in their possession, which they were attempting to sell at a price below the animal's value. The thieves were lodged in jail, and the mare was placed in charge o

Messrs. Davis & Bacon. GONE INTO LIQUIDATION .- The officers of the Agricultural Deposit Bank at Lexington have gone into liquidation. The Observer and Reporter says this movement has been made in consequence of the deranged condition of the business of the country. BURGLAR ARRESTED .- A man named Thos Finley, charged with house-breaking in Cov ington, Ky., arrived here by the mailboat from Cincinnati, on Friday night, and fell into the hands of Officers Overton, Maguire, and Finey, who lodged him in jail. There will be a meeting of the carpenters and joiners of the city at Union Hall, on Market street, between Third and Fourth streets, to-morrow evening at seven o'clock. We are indebted to Mr. Lukenbill, of the Adams Express Company, for Nashville papers of yesterday. Gen. Rousseau arrived in Washington on Friday. The despatch announcing his arrival says he is still quite ill.

Nashville on Friday night.

THE TRADERS' BANK OF NASHVILLE .-Alluding to the arrest in this city of Jerome Paddock and J. H. Holland, who were on their way to Nashville with a vast amount of worthless bank paper in their possession, we stated that the shinplasters found in their posession purported to be the issue of the exploded Traders' Bank of Nashville. The Nashille Dispatch says it is not an exploded conern. It has not transacted any business for everal months, but is regarded as one of the est free banks, and its issues are quoted in Nashville at only five per cent discount, the ame as the best of the Tennessee banks next the Bank of Tennessee and the Planters' and Union Banks. The little circulation it has out passes current in ordinary transactions. Paddock and Holland were examined in our City Court on Saturday, and held in fifteen hundred dollars each to answer in the Circuit Court on a charge of having worthless money in their possession with the intention of pass ing the same. Jos. BURNETT & Co.'s PREPARATIONS .- Most of our readers are doubtless familiar with the celebrated preparations of this well known tion from M. T. Wheat. Mr. Wheat, as our firm. They are fully established as goods of readers know, is the author of a new work | high order, and are indorsed by competent are indicated in this communication. Those liston, a fragrant water for the skin; Florimel, tion. We regret that the communication is a Farina, are all more or less known among our city friends. To these may be added Burnett's Oriental Tooth-wash, which has received the anction and patronage of eminent dental and medical men. At the present high rates of exchange, there are good reasons why few oreign preparations should be used when such excellent substitutes can be procured at home. Burnett & Co. also manufacture a variety of flavoring extracts which possess great purity and strength. MEETING OF TEAMSTERS .- A meeting of teamsters and the owners of teams in the city was held at the White Mansion, pursuant to notice, on the evening of the 7th inst. Mr. Preston Means was called to the chair and John O'Connor was appointed Secretary. A Committee was appointed to fix a bill of prices pass: passed.

Dennis Shea, of the Sixth Kentucky avalry, who was shot by an Indian in an affray on Green street a few days ago, died on Friday in the hospital on Jefferson street, above Preston. His friends and relatives live in Lexington, Ky. The homicide has not been arrested, but it is rumored that he has been killed in a mysterious manner since his paricipation in the Green street affray.

The body of Sergeant Wm. H. Milam, f the Twenty-second Kentucky Infantry, eached this city on Saturday from St. Louis. Sergeant M. was in the battle before Vicksarg, where he distinguished himself, but died f disease in one of the St. Louis hospitals. His family reside at Milam's Station, in Franklin county, and the remains will be taken n or rail oad to-day for interment.

PANUL ACCIDENT .- John Kuntz, an employee in the steam bakery at the corner of second and Guthrie streets, met with a terrible accident on Saturday. His hand was caught in some machinery, and his arm was drawn in and torn off above the elbow. After the accident occurred the young man went to the engineer and asked him to stop the nachinery, that he might get his hand loose.

The body of Michael Allen, who was killed in the affray at Jeffersonville on Friday, was brought to this city for interment on Saturday. The body of Jenkins, who killed Saturday. The body of Jenkins, who killed Allen, was recovered from the river, and was 100 bbls. Cement or Water Lime; interred at Jeffersonville yesterday. Bloom, who was seriously cut by Allen, it is thought, will recover.

SIXTH KENTUCKY CAVALRY. - For the in-Mundy, their commander, who has been ill at Danville for some time, is much better, and that he will soon be sufficiently restored to rejoin his command, now in the vicinity of this city.

Homicide.-Presley Pollock killed Jacob Pitt at Springfield, Tenn., on Monday last. The Nashville Dispatch says the parties had a lifficulty about a horse, during which Pitt attempted to draw a pistol, when Pollock lrew his and fired, killing the former instant ly. Pollock gave himself up.

The Frankfort Commonwealth say hat the Cumberland Gap, the great gate leadng to and from Eastern Kentucky, is wide pen. The rebels can come in or go out, just as they see proper. Still they are so unrea onable as to complain of coercion. A man named Wm. Armstrong was rrested by officer Sayres on Saturday on the harge of stealing a horse from Mr. Hardin, of Re Meade county, a month ago. Officer Rogers also arrested a horse thief on Saturday. The Nashville Dispatch says that it is enerally believed in that city that Col. Frank McNairy was killed in the attack on Fort Donelson on the 3d inst. It is also reported that the rebel Col. Coffee was killed. ROBBERY .- A thief entered the jewelry tore of Louis Mendel, on Market near Second treet, at an early hour last evening, and stole quantity of jewelry. The rascal was pursued, ut made his escape.

MIRROR OF THE WORLD .- Wood's series of peautiful panoramic views, entitled a Mirror of the World, will be exhibited for the first time in this city at Mozart Hall on Wedneslay evening next.

Captain W. H. Fagan, of the Provost Guard, left for Baltimore last evening with ixty rebel prisoners in charge, who are to be forwarded to Richmond for exchange.

DT L. T. When I was a boy fathers and mothers did when I was a boy istacts and mothers did not seem so very willing, as they appear to be in these days, to let their girls marry. I sup-pose the reason was they were more useful then than now; the girls of the present day being rather expensive commodities. It took then six to seven yards to make a dress; now they go it from twenty-one to fifty-nine and a half yards, and not more than half dressed at that. The musical instruments, big and little, did not require melodeon attachments, nor double pedals. A single foot, with a flat heel and broad tread, was the best attachment for a little wheel. A quick step and muscular arm were the only requrements for the big one.

There were no troubles over the double demisemi-quavers, crotchets, altos, and sopranos, but the tones were all natural, and the instru-ments never required five dollars a time for

The boys and girls used to come a long way on horseback, for there were no railways and on horseback, for there were no railways and but few boats to travel upon. They came from Western Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, and Northern Ohio to N.—, very frequently. The rule was, unless there was great fear of rapid pursuit, to try for license at the different county towns as they went, and to keep going until they found a clerk not very cartially about inquiring into even or about particular about inquiring into ages, or about consent of parents or guardians, or some friend to get the authority, as old jailer Morrison, of N—, used to say, "by trick or trap."

Morrison was very fond of seeing young people made happ, and said he never could sleep when he knew there was a runaway couple in town until he knew they had legally, the right to stay in the same room at the tavern, as the poor young girls were always so much afraid to stay by themselves in ways so much afraid to stay by themselves in a strange house.

On one occasion there came riding up to the old tavern, near the ferry, a young man, about twenty-two or three, and a nice young girl not over sixteen—a maiden aunt of no particular age, and a friend of the young man bearing them company. They had hardly been seated before Morrison had the young man cornered and let him know that he understood what was out. The young man confessed the trouble and implored his aid. They had come all the Way from Western Pennsylvania, and had tried for license at every county town on both sides of the Ohio, but could not get license because of the girl's age and not having her parent's consent.

M—— became so noted for getting license for runaways, he had to keep out of the way of the clerk when there was anything of the A special from Cairo to the Tribune says a Memphis despatch announces the arrival there of the Adeline from Vicksburg.

There was coaxing and begging and crying There was coaxing and begging and crying and threatening, but the old man held out. The old lady gave in after the first skirmishing was made; but the old man still hung out. The young lady left her home and went to a neighbors, declaring she would marry her neighbors, declaring she would marry her was 7 miles from Sumpter, the inner one was upon the bar. Sailors in the Navy Department are certain that rabel iron clads went down only to the cousin, neck or nought.

An old bachelor who lived at the house she went to became ambassador and minister plenipotentiary. He negotiated, finessed, manusured, importuned, beseeched, cursed, and cut up at the old man to get him to consent and let the clerk issue license. The father would sometimes get angry, and say he did not care what the clerk did, and then the old bachelor would off to the clerk. But he was inflexible; the father must send his cousent in writing, or come and give it in person.

got angry and said many things, and amongst them that he did not care what the clerk did, nor what his brother did, nor what the young Committee of Ways and Means are also daily ouple did. Upon these declarations, the uncle went off to the clerk's office, walked up to the clerk's table, and said: "I give my consent that license issue for the marriage of M—— b—— with T—— S——," and out he went. The clerk issued the license and gave it to the old bachelor, who was on hand, and in a little while the young couple were married. When the father heard of the marriage, he went to the clerk's office and demanded to

to have been a fight upon the strength of it.

The one who gave consent was a twin brother of the girl's father, and so much like him that one was often taken for the other.

The couple live yet at N——. They lived happily and lovingly, as far as I have ever heard. I once got on a boat at Portland to go to Vicksburg. It was dark when I went on her, Vicksburg. It was dark when I went on her, and she went directly over to New Albany to take on a lot of freight. As soon as she landed, out went three or four couple, and up into Albany. In an hour or two they came back and went on into the ladies' cabin. It was soon whispered round that there was no marriage, the party not being able to get license, the law of Indiana having been changed, making a residence necessary for those nuder 21 years, or something of that sort.

boots. There sat a gentleman, spparently 50 to 55 years of age, with his head resting on his knee. I knew he was in love as soon as I saw him, having been that way a few times myself. So I remarked, after saluting him—by way of getting into his affections at once—"I am sorry I did not know the couple who went ashore at Albany to marry, as I would like to have aided in getting them permission to do so, and would think I was but a slim sucker indeed if I could not manaver a clerk out of license."

He took my hand and said, "My dear friend, if you will get me license, I will recompense you in any way you may name."

He told me his loved one was not quite eighteen years of age. Her father and mother were both dead, and her guardian would not consent to the marriage. I told him if he could get the boat to land at some county town, I would go with him and see what could be done. During all the forenoon he hung about me, and talked of nothing but plans to get a license. The boat had to land below Shawneetown to take on cattle. I told him to get the yawl and a couple of sailors, and let us go to the town a few miles below and see what could do against the hoat came along. He did so, and away we went. There was no lawyer in the town, but went. There was no lawyer in the town, but one justice of the peace, and he was out in the woods getting wood. The only chance was the clerk. I told him to trust to Providence. We went to the office and, without any other preliminaries, I remarked: "We were going down the river on the Uncle Sam; that she was overcrowded with passengers, and we were pairing them as fast as we could that all might have berths."

He remarked: "I suppose you are the gen-tleman, and this other gentleman the lady's father."
"No," said I; "he is the happy swain him-

"Well," said he, "about the lady's age?"
I lifted his hat, and asked if he thought a man carrying such a whitened poll would be able to get anything in the shape of a woman under twenty-one. He said he would think

He issued the document, and we were nearing the river when the boat came steaming to the shore. I saw the young lady, who was standing aft of the wheelhouse, on the outer waving it aloft, as a signal of success.

The Episcopal Bishop of Illinois was on board, who married the loving pair forthwith. I registered the marriage in the boat's Bible; wrote a certificate and had it signed by a number of persons that witnessed the months. number of persons that witnessed the marriage.

When at Bladensburg in command of but four regiments—when placed at the head of a division on the peninsula—and when he returned from Antietam, wounded, yet crowned with laurels, has Hooker expressed his conviction to distinguished Massachusetts gentlemen that, sooner or later, he would be in command of the army of the Potomac, and would win victories with it.
